Rich Summaries

Summaries can include Markdown formatting when using headings or summary divs.

> ⚠️ Warning
> The `summary` attribute only supports plain text. To include formatting, use a heading or summary Div instead.

Using a Heading

The heading content preserves inline formatting:

::: {.details}
Click for important `code` details

Content here.
:::

Gives:

> ℹ️ Click for important code details
> This summary has bold text and inline code formatting.

Using a Summary Div

For more complex summaries:

::: {.details}
::: {.summary}
Warning: This contains advanced configuration
:::

Advanced content here.
:::

Gives:

> i Warning: This contains advanced configuration
> Here are the advanced configuration options:
> - Option A: For power users
> - Option B: Experimental feature
> - Option C: Use with caution

Conclusion

When using headings or a summary Div, e.g. `#` or `::: {.summary}`, you can include rich formatting such as bold text, italics, `code`, lists, and more.
